

Regulatory Affairs Junior

We are looking for a young professional to join our regulatory affairs team at our Head Office. We are offering a six-month trial period with the possibility of a permanent contract. The office is in a pleasant area near Barcelona with an international working environment.

Responsibilities:

- Become familiar with EU regulations and legislation, in relation to feed and food
- Become familiar with and apply relevant EU/EFSA/EURL guidelines
- Compile/write technical dossiers
- Perform data audits/gap analyses in relation to feed and food products in the EU
- Design studies to support dossiers
- Write protocols and review study reports, as per EFSA/EU/EURL requirements
- Monitor studies required for EU registration
- Perform relevant statistical analyses of data from studies
- Verify legal status of food/feed ingredients
- Draft or review food/feed labels for compliance
- Perform other office tasks as required.

Requirements:

- Graduate in veterinary medicine, veterinary sciences, animal science or similar
- Fluent in English, both written and verbal
- Advanced computer skills, proficient in Word, Excel, Adobe, etc.
- Excellent attention to detail
- Ability to work under pressure
- Driving licence
- Previous experience in regulatory affairs is not required; any previous experience will be taken into account.

Desirable:

- Good knowledge of statistics
- Experience working with Apple Macintosh
- Good level of written and verbal Spanish.

Hours:

08.30-17.30 Monday-Friday applicable during trial period, with a flexible timetable thereafter.
To apply, please send a 1-page CV and 1-page cover letter in English.